

433rd AW needs Volunteers for speakers' Bureau

The 433rd Airlift Wing is looking for volunteers. If you consider yourself a subject-matter expert, have a great hobby, or just like to talk and meet people, the Speakers Bureau wants you.

The bureau, which is managed by the Public Affairs Office, is a community relations program that provides an opportunity for base experts to speak at formal or informal functions in San Antonio and surrounding areas. The success of this program depends on the continued support of the military and the civilian staff stationed here in the Alamo Wing.

Volunteers can gain public speaking experience as well as assist in developing public understanding of the history of the U.S. Army, the military, Fort Sam Houston and their contributions to the nation.

Speakers are asked to address audiences on a variety of subjects to include athletics, academics, leadership, history, history of the Army, as well as general patriotic themes. The Speakers Bureau also supports local veterans groups for both national holidays and memorial services.

If you are interested in joining our Speakers Bureau, provide a short bio and your topic of expertise to elsa.martinez@us.af.mil or minnie.jones@us.af.mil.
